

Paypal takes care of the process of charging your credit card automatically. When you register, your first installment is immediately processed, the second and third automated payments follow, each 30 days apart.